

VACANCY

OEM Sales Engineer

A vacancy exists for a suitably qualified and experienced person to play a key part in expanding the company's sales into the OEM sector.

Operating from modern premises in Gloucestershire, RDS designs and manufactures electronic measuring, monitoring and control instruments for agricultural, construction and other mobile machinery.

The position involves the following:

- >> Identifying and pursuing new customer opportunities in the mobile machinery industry.
- >> Identifying and pursuing means of increasing sales to existing customers.

The successful applicant will typically have the following skills:

- >> Educated to minimum HND or equivalent in an engineering discipline.
- >> Minimum five years experience in the mobile machinery industry, eg engineering/product planning/sales.
- >> Literate, numerate (including IT), commercial acumen.
- >> Confidence, presence and ambition.
- >> European language skill(s) would be an advantage.

Although RDS is an electronics company, in-depth knowledge of electronics is not required. A broad knowledge of mechanical, hydraulic, machinery and electrical concepts is however essential. The position involves UK and overseas travel.

If you think this is for you, please send CV, inc recent salary history, and cover email to:

Richard Danby
r.danby@rdstec.com

No agencies please.